Why you should attend:

In the late 1990's and early 2000's, the HHS Office of Inspector General published compliance program guidelines for Nursing Communities, Home Health Agencies and Hospices.

In 2010, the passage of PPACA required all providers participating in Medicare to have an effective compliance program. By Nov. 28, 2019 long-term care communities including SNF's must have implemented an effective corporate compliance program as a condition of enrollment.

With this in mind, LeadingAge Washington has a full day planned for members to learn about the elements of an effective compliance program.

The elements to be discussed include:

- A review of recent compliance enforcement cases and settlements
- The "Seven Elements" of an effective compliance program
- And more....
